Inspired by Nature

Meet.. Suzanne

An artisan florist and flower grower, in rural Devon.

Having grown up on a farm, I have always felt a strong connection to nature and the outdoors.

From seed to stem, I am totally in love with the whole process of sowing and nurturing your flowers. From sowing the seed, to cutting and arranging beautiful garden flowers for your wedding.

From small beginnings loving and creating my first patio garden, to taking a blank canvas and designing my cottage garden, and then quickly becoming totally enthused by the growing of cut flowers in my cut flower patch.

I am totally in my element both outside growing, or in my studio designing, this really is my dream come true.

My ethos is to grow flowers in a way that is of benefit to the local ecosystem.

I do not use any pesticides or herbicides in my flower patch, I rely solely on the beneficial insects keeping the pests at more manageable levels.

In my garden I am continually looking to improve the soil for the vitality of both my plants and the environment.

Soil is essential to life on earth and so its declining condition spells trouble for everyone. Considering that just one teaspoon of soil can hold more organisms than there are people on the whole planet, our soils are well worth protecting.

You can be confident that flowers grown in my cutting garden will have benefited nature in a positive way.

Arranged by Suzanne, Inspired by Nature

Design

Specialising in smaller intimate weddings and receptions, with a natural rustic, garden style.

Flowers that look as if they are still growing in the garden.

Using fragile and delicate flowers, that make your bouquet come alive.

Every arrangement is wild, informal, and full of texture.

Imagine yourself strolling through a charming country garden surrounded by the most delightful fragrances, and now visualise your beautiful wedding flowers encompassing that image.

For couples looking for a particular flower for their wedding.....The flowers Suzanne uses to create your wedding are truly seasonal, she will not make you any promises about particular flowers, if they are not in bloom, in the garden then they will not feature, but will be substituted with an equally gorgeous alternative.

Your wedding florals are designed by Suzanne in her garden studio, every wedding is unique with all the flowers being totally seasonal.

The majority of the flowers for your wedding will be grown by Suzanne in her cutting garden.

Where larger quantities of flowers are required Suzanne sources British flowers from other local Devon and Cornwall growers.

All of the floristry is intended to be sustainable, with the use of plastic being extremely limited, and instead focusing on biodegradable and reuseable mechanics.

The Details

Your planning your wedding, what would you like? how big or small is up to you.

Arrangements for the church and Register table (these could be repurposed at the reception venue).

Buttonholes for the bridal party and possibly key guests.

Bud vase or jar arrangements for the wedding breakfast.

Bouquets, baskets, flower crowns, corsages, for your bridesmaids or flower girls.

Buckets filled with beautiful fresh flowers, for you to create your own floral designs.

Roses are red and violets are blue, which colour palette best suits you..... classic with lots of white, pastels or bold and bright.

And obviously an incredibly stunning bridal bouquet.

Bridal party bouquets are always collected or delivered in a vase, allowing the option to utilise those bouquets at the reception venue.

Delivery and installation would incur some additional charges, but collection is an option for smaller packages

Providing flowers in Mid Devon, with the potential to travel further.

Pretty Little Things

There are so many pretty floral options for flower girls including wrist corsages, flower crowns, little baskets with flower decoration detail and fresh flower confetti, willow flower hoops, or smaller bouquets.
